I find it ironic. You were someone I looked up to. And here I am, stabbing you in the back. Nobody is innocent. I am not either.

But, I care for the community. I cannot believe I genuinely loved you. I still care for you, even now. But, gatekeeping has its limits. This is too far. You worked with a doxxer and a pedo, you DATED a pedo. I've seen the DMs. You used it as leverage to regain staff multiple times. You are not innocent. I am not innocent. You and I are not so different. The only difference between you and I is I see what is wrong with this community, and I am making moves to fix it.
